Impact Report 2018

In their second year as a Tutoring pair, Erwin (10th grade) and Kevin Dougherty (Tufts '20) share special interests in French, which they are each taking classes in, and chess, which they play every week during game time at Tutoring.

With a similar sense of humor, Cormack McAdams (Tufts '21) is an ideal role model for Kain (10th grade). In their two years as a Tutoring pair, Kain has followed Cormack's example of being a very serious student while still being silly when the situation calls for it.

Now in their fourth year as a Tutoring pair, Ysimar (8th grade) and Jane Fountain (BC '19) have developed a comfortable dynamic. They strike a good balance between productive homework time and chatting effortlessly about everything from college to the challenges of being a supportive sibling and friend.

By the Numbers

As always, my tutee is the most important reason I come to Tutoring every week. But I also love the connections I'm able to make with everyone in the program. Tutoring is a light in my life.
